GENTRAN RECEIVES NATIONAL CERTIFICATION AS A WOMEN'S BUSINESS ENTERPRISE

ATLANTA – September 27, 2006 –GenTran Corporation (www.gen-tran.com), the leading designer and manufacturer of generator transfer systems for residential and light commercial backup and temporary power applications, has received national certification as a Women's Business Enterprise by the Georgia Women's Business Council, a regional certifying partner of the Women's Business Enterprise National Council (WBENC).

WBENC's national standard of certification implemented by the Georgia Women's Business Council is a meticulous process including an in-depth review of the business and site inspection. The certification process is designed to confirm the business is at least 51% owned, operated and controlled by a woman or women.

"We are excited about the new opportunities this certification brings to GenTran," said Beth Johnson, GenTran's Vice President of Marketing and Sales. "We look forward to expanding our visibility and market reach to new channels among decision makers that recognize the value of this certification, especially for our traffic signal transfer switch products which are often purchased by state departments of transportation," she added.

By including women-owned businesses among their vendors, corporations and government agencies demonstrate their commitment to fostering diversity and the continued development of their supplier/vendor diversity programs.

Headquartered in Alpharetta, Georgia, GenTran Corporation is the nation's leading designer and manufacturer of standby transfer switches and accessories used in conjunction with backup generators. Since 1982, almost one million GenTran products have been installed in homes and businesses across North America in order to maintain power during outages or for temporary power applications. Founded by industry veteran, Paul Schnackenberg, GenTran Corporation is now owned by his daughters, Beth Johnson and Jane Mandula. For additional information call 1-888-GEN-TRAN or visit our website at www.gen-tran.com.

The Women's Business Enterprise National Council is the nation's largest third party certifier of businesses owned and operated by women in the United States. WBENC is a resource for the more than 700 U.S. companies and government agencies that rely on WBENC's certification as an integral part of their supplier diversity programs.
